Ethnic Day – “SATRANG”

Kottayam: Saintgits College of Applied Sciences, witnessed a vibrant celebration of cultural diversity with the observance of SCASSA Ethnic Day – “SATRANG” on 3rd December 2025. The event was organized by the Saintgits College of Applied Sciences Students’ Association (SCASSA) and showcased the rich cultural heritage of India through various artistic and culinary activities. The program commenced with the SCASSA oath-taking ceremony, marking the formal induction of the newly elected student representatives. The oath was administered in the presence of faculty members, reinforcing the values of responsibility, leadership, and service among the student body. A series of cultural performances added colour and energy to the celebration. Students enthralled the audience with traditional and fusion dance performances, a melodious group song, and an elegant fashion walk, where participants displayed ethnic attire representing different Indian states and cultures. One of the major highlights of the event was the ethnic food stall exhibition, organized by various departments. Each department set up food stalls based on different Indian states, offering a variety of traditional dishes. The stalls were inaugurated by the Principal, who visited each stall and tasted the food, appreciating the students’ creativity, coordination, and presentation. The Ethnic Day celebration fostered unity in diversity and provided students with a platform to express cultural pride and teamwork. The colourful ambience, enthusiastic participation, and cultural harmony made SATRANG 2025 a memorable experience for all. The program concluded, leaving behind a strong message of cultural inclusiveness and student leadership, truly reflecting the spirit of “Learn. Grow. Excel.”
